New York, Nov. 3.—After an exciting pursuit, in which a passing automobile hastily pressed into service, played an important part, a well-dressed highwayman, who attacked Mrs. Robert Lissauer, wife of one of a firm of jewelers, on the street and robbed her of a gold chatelaine bag, was captured on a platform of the Third Avenue railway. The robber seized the woman from behind as she was walking along Madison avenue and not succeeding as easily as he had thought he would in wresting from her a gold chatelaine bag she held, he hit her a terrific blow between the eyes, felling her to the sidewalk. Her screams attracted the attention of the chauffeur of a passing automobile, who set out at once in pursuit of the disappearing robber and succeeded, with the assistance of a policeman picked up en route, in capturing the fugitive.

He soon had all the help he wanted, for in response to the alarm four engines, two trucks and a patrol wagon dashed up to the scene, bringing forty-five firemen and a dozen policemen. By this time the boys had made good their escape and Roche was locked up charged with turning in a false alarm. His message for assistance cost the city $56.

Miss Corey married Dr. Charles Howard Aufhaumer of Pittsburg, whom she has known since childhood.

Mrs. A. A. Corey, the mother, said: "I have already explained why my son and his wife were not invited. We care for both of them, but it would not have edoned. They both understand our reasons and are satisfied."

Texarkana, Nov. 3.—At Rose Hill, a suburb, half a mile from the city limits on the Texas side, eleven cases of smallpox exist. All of them are white and all except one children who have been attending the Rose Hill public school. Every case is of mild form.

The origin of these cases has been traced to an old negress who went to a store kept by Mr. Smith, corner of Whitaker and Nalthenius streets, a couple of weeks ago with the disease broken out on her.

The store is near the school and the children frequent it to purchase tablets, gum, etc. Smith himself has been stricken. A number of citizens worked all day Sunday and Sunday night endeavoring to protect the banks. Several hundred thousand dollars worth of property is in imminent danger of being destroyed.

Two large brick cotton warehouses, owned by R. M. Knox and D. S. Blusenthal tumbled into the Arkansas river following the continuous caving in of the banks. The river continues to eat its way into the heart of the business district.

Character In Clothes

There is an atmosphere about some turnouts that distinguishes them as more than mere vehicles.

About some clothing there is the same character. A tailor may make the same high-grade woollens and the same trimmings that are used in a Stein-Block suit or overcoat and make you a suit that lacks this distinction—which the material used deserves and which rightfully belongs to his customer.

The suit will "wear" but it will never be anything but a cloth covering.

On the other hand, some tailors can give you the style and distinction that you demand—but they charge heavily for this atmosphere.

The problem would be a pretty one for you to solve did not Stein-Block step in and solve it for you. They are tailors for men and have concentrated their energies on making clothes as well as clothes can be made. They have struck a golden mean of proving fashions, of tested woollens, of smooth fit, of proper style. We handle the Stein-Block clothing. Will appreciate a call by you.

HISTORIC CIGAR.

Figures In Grant's Victory at Fort Donaldson.

Tro, Mich., Nov. 2.—Major Gen. Fred D. Grant, who is presiding over a courtmartial now in session at Wayne, in the western suburbs of this city, said to some friends here the cigar that initiated his father, late President Grant, into the tobacco smoking habit, really figured strongly in the winning of the battle of Fort Donaldson. Speaking of the incident, General Grant said: "My father was in conference with General Foote on the latter's flagship and just accepted a cigar from him. When word came to him that the left flank of his force was being pushed. Hurrying ashore and mounting on a fleet horse to the battle, he succeeded in rallying his troops completely that chaos was to victory."

Buckner had to comply with a demand for an unconditional surrender. The newspapers' fact that father had rushed to warship to the battle, taking Admiral Foote's mouth. The dispatches from the battlefield, 'cool and peacefully smoking a long cigar' who read the story began congratulations and presents. Tens of thousands of cigars my father smoked many of which he did not smoke as many people imagined he did. Some cigar that he would smoke tonight would last him from lunch to luncheon. It was the almost constantly held a cigar in his fingers that made me scribe him as a great figure."

Grant said that his father acquired the smoking habit at Fort because the rules forbade his attempts at smoking. As a cadet, however, made a habit, and when he left West Point he took them up. Mexican war, General Grant took a liking to cigars and found that with him, but when he the north again he dropped of smoking to resume it at Donaldson incident.

COWARDLY CULPRIT.

Attacks Aged Lady Who Goes to Niece's Relief.

Hillsboro, Tex., Nov. 2.—At the residence of Mrs. M. H. Whetmire, an elderly woman and a widow, three miles south of Hillsboro a shameful deed was committed.

Mrs. Whetmire, while endeavoring to protect her niece, the intended victim of an assailant, sustained severe, though not dangerous, injuries from blows inflicted with a chair. Mrs. Whetmire and her niece, Mrs. Lettie Stephenson of Canyon City, whom she had reared, and who was on a visit to her, had retired for the night in the family bedroom in the second story of the residence, leaving a lamp lighted in the room for the benefit of a young lady of the household, who was attending a social function.

Mrs. Stephenson was aroused from sleep by the movements of a man in her room, he having extinguished the lamp, and immediately afterward was warned by him in a low tone of voice that if she made any noise he would choke her. She cried out to her aunt, Mrs. Whetmire then arose. The intruder grabbed a chair and struck the elder lady on the head, knocking her down. She rallied and made a second then a third attempt to rescue her niece, but each time she was prostrated from a blow with the chair, finally being for a time rendered unconscious. The man then caught Mrs. Stephenson and dragged her to the stairway and part of the way down the stairs. By clinging to the railing she, however, managed to successfully resist his efforts until her aunt again revived from the blows received, and came to her assistance. The man then ran away. It was upward of an hour later before the ladies recovered sufficiently from their flight to descend to the lower story, where the telephone is located, to notify the officers. When the information was received by the sheriff's force the dogs from the county farm were immediately taken to the residence and soon started on the trail, ending at the residence of a colored family, about two and a half miles away.

The negro man of the family was arrested and is now in jail. Another negro was arrested and jailed. Officers, however, think the culprit a white man. The Whetmire family is one of the oldest and most prominent in this section.

INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS.

Farmers and Others Interested in Cotton to Meet in New Orleans to Launch Campaign to Boost the Price of Cotton.

Union City, Ga., Oct. 31.—Charles S. Barrett, national president of the Farmers' Union, has issued the following statement regarding the industrial congress he has called to meet at New Orleans November 11th, for the purpose of formulating a campaign for advancing the price of cotton in the South:

"As the executive head of an organization of more than 2,000,000 farmers in the Southern States, controlling approximately 60 per cent of the cotton grown in the United States, I feel that it is incumbent upon me to take the initiative in practical steps looking to stopping the downward trend of the price for this staple, and restoring it to a figure warranted by the cost of its production and its value to civilization."

"It is needless for me to state that the prosperity of every business interest between Mason and Dixon's line and the Rio Grande river is largely dependent upon the return the cotton crop is bringing to this section."

"A proper return for cotton means prosperity to the farmer, the country and town merchant, the city business man, the manufacturer, the wage-worker, the salary-earner, every railroad and corporation in the Southern States."

"Today spot cotton is selling in the neighborhood of 2½ cents per pound less than one year ago. In many instances this means that the producer is called upon to dispose of his output below cost."

"If this price-level prevails throughout the selling season of 1908-9 the South will sustain a loss approaching $150,000,000."

"The significance of such a development would be sluggishness in every Southern commercial circle, restriction of money in every business, a stoppage of construction and development in each direction, and a failure to recuperate from the panic of last fall as rapidly as we have a right to expect."

"There is no logical or necessary reason for this slump in the price of cotton. The output of the South will be infinitely smaller than last year, when prices ranged to a higher level. American and European spinners admit that they expect to book the usual volume of advance orders at the prices obtaining in 1907."

"The sole excuse now standing between fair prices and the South's cotton is the belief of spinners that they will be able to obtain the staple at their own figure. In this belief they have been aided by exchange manipulators, whose efforts have been to show that the cotton belt would make a record-breaking yield. As a matter of fact, we who are in most intimate touch with the situation know there is not the slightest ground for such an opinion."

"The members of the Farmers' Union, as I have said, control in the neighborhood of 60 per cent of the South's staple crop."

"With the co-operation of the business interests, large and small, of every Southern State, they will undertake to secure for this crop its intrinsic value in the markets of the world."

"We are determined to win this fight, regardless of the temporary sacrifice it may entail upon us. I serve this notice freely and frankly upon every business man of the South."

"They can add us materially, and they can shorten the time of waiting, by active co-operation in this effort."

"We are battling not alone for ourselves, but for the prosperity and freedom from debt of every man, woman and child in the Southern States."

"We have a right to expect their assistance under these conditions."

"To the end of arriving at definite plans, I have summoned delegates from every Southern State to meet in New Orleans on November 11th. I will answer for a large attendance of these men, each thoroughly familiar with the cotton and the financial situation in his community."

"I invite the co-operation of business men, manufacturer, professional man, banker and wage-earner in the South. I urge them to be present personally. I urge on commercial bodies, chambers of commerce, boards of trade and labor organizations to send representatives to this convention."

"We are going to adopt extraordinary measures to meet extraordinary conditions. That fact is settled. With the active help and counsel of the business men of the South, the success of our plans, and the prosperity of the entire section is assured beyond peradventure."

"I will be glad to receive notice from parties intending to be present, as well as suggestions for promoting this universal movement, unprecedented in scope and vital importance in the history of the South."

"Bear in mind that the moment the South makes it evident at New Orleans that it intends to work in concert for a just price for cotton the price for that staple will begin to mount and that it will not stop short of an equitable level, corresponding to the laws of supply and demand."

"Are the business interests of the South ready to join hands with the producers of the South in promoting this end?"

"CHARLES S. BARRETT, "President of Farmers' Union."

May End Divorce Mecca.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 3.—As a result of the election in South Dakota today this state, will very likely lose the lucrative patronage of the matrimonial misfits, who for some years have flocked here in large numbers to obtain quick divorce. The voters today are passing upon a law submitted to them under the initiative and referendum, providing that divorces shall not be granted to any person married outside the state who has not resided in South Dakota for one year. Heretofore only six months' residence has been required.

Of the 552 divorces granted in South Dakota last year 364 were to non-residents, every one of whom came here for the purpose of a divorce. Of the total number 134 were issued in Sioux Falls, the chief divorce center. The enactment of the proposed law is expected to reduce the number of divorces in South Dakota to less than 200 a year.

Another change that will be made by the new measure, if approved, is to require hearing of divorce cases at regular terms of court. Heretofore the judges have been very accommodating, listening in chambers almost any time to the complaints of those desiring a severance of the matrimonial ties.

If the measure is approved by the voters it will come into effect on December 3, on which date the state canvassing board will meet to officially announce the results of the election.

Kansas City, Nov. 2.—William J. Bryan spent the last day of his campaign in northeast Kansas delivering speeches on his way hom on a special train to Lincoln to vote. Bryan arrived here Monday morning on a regular train over the Chicago and Alton from Chicago. He was met by a score of prominent Democrats from Kansas and Missouri with thirty automobiles and escorted across the state line to Kansas City, Kan., where the first speech of the day was made. The trip over the line was across the inter-city viaduct, skirting the Missouri river, and as the party reached the center of the structure a chorus of whistles from packing houses and a few small river boats greeted the candidate.

A tremendous crowd gathered at the speaking place in Huron Place, and it with difficulty Mr. Bryan was piloted through to the platform. He reviewed the main issues of the campaign, and noting the large number of working men present declared: "Tomorrow is Labor day and the laboring man has a chance to strike."

THE PRICE MUST BE RAISED.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found an open letter from Hon. Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America, in regard to a convention of all organizations and classes interested in cotton, to assemble in New Orleans November 11. The invitation is broad, including all the financial, commercial and industrial interests of the South, and the sole object is to devise and execute plans for advancing the price of the South's great staple. In a personal letter to the editor of The Eagle, President Barrett says:

"The scope and importance of this convention will be absolutely unprecedented in Southern history. It is to be nothing less than the formation of an alliance between the cotton producers and the business interests of the section, to the end of saving the South a sum approximating $150,000,000 for the season of 1908-9. The Farmers' Union, with its membership of 2,000,000 cotton planters, is the only active agency in the South able to carry a plan for the elevation of the price of the staple to a successful conclusion. Its members control 60 per cent of the crop. It is self-evident that they have the situation in their hands. Growing the crop, and holding the crop, it is upon them that the first burden of low prices falls. From them the disastrous effect is visited upon every business interest of the South, without a single exception. Its members are willing to make sacrifices if they may ultimately succeed in their fight for a just return for their product. I believe the business interests of the South, affected in like degree by high or low-priced cotton, will be willing to co-operate in a campaign for the mutual good."

It is expected, as a matter of course, that the Farmers' Union of Brazos county will respond to the call of its supreme officer and send a strong delegation to New Orleans. The members of the local unions and of the county organization are awake to the advantage of a great concentration of forces for the accomplishment of a single definite object that will result in so much benefit to themselves first, and secondarily to all collateral interests.

Whether the Bryan Retail Merchants' Association is yet in a position to accept the invitation in the catholic spirit in which it is tendered we do not know, but this seems to us a rare opportunity to bring the merchant and the farmer together in a strong, united effort for the common good of all.

A free discussion of the subject would certainly be of interest and would likely do good. The Eagle will take pleasure in publishing communications from anyone who has a pertinent suggestion or plan to offer.

It is regarded as highly probable that the large anthracite mining concerns will adopt the idea of providing educational facilities for their employees, giving practically every mine worker in the anthracite region the opportunity to learn. The door to promotion will thus be thrown open to the humblest toiler. One of the effects of the plan, the mining officials think, will be to lessen the number of accidents in the mines, which in most cases are due to the ignorance as well as the carelessness of the workers.

BALANCE REMITTED.

Texas Said to Have Another Claim Against Uncle Sam.

Austin, Nov. 2.—The governor received a check from the Federal government for $21,395, being the balance due the state of Texas for services rendered by Texas troops for protection of frontier between 1855 and June 21, 1869. The total amount due the state was $396,814 and the state collected in 1906 $375,418. The above claim is in the nature of a reimbursement of Texas for amounts paid out during the period given above. It is now claimed that Texas had another claim for similar service against the Federal government for $100,000 and this is now being investigated.

The Cotton Market
Little was done in cotton yesterday.

The American markets were closed on account of the election, and Liverpool was lethargic. A second meeting between representatives of the mill strikers and mill owners is to occur in Manchester in a short time to ratify the negotiations closed at the recent meeting of these interests and adjust some few minor details. Buyers here express the opinion that after the election is over and the strike is settled, a better demand for staple will ensue, and are hopeful of slightly higher prices.

Liverpool opened Tuesday morning 2 to 3 points up, ruled easy, and closed at a decline of 1 point lower than Monday.

The Bryan market underwent no revision in the matter of prices.

Quotations: Strict low middling, 8 3-16c; middling 8 9-16c; strict middling, 8 3-4c; good middling, 8 7-8c. Sales about 75 bales.

Liverpool is due unchanged today.

Kudr-Kalinee
At St. Joseph's church in this city at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Rev. Father J. B. Gleisner officiating, Mr. Atone Kudr and Miss Amelia Kalinee, were united in marriage according to the solemn rites of the Catholic church.

In the bridal procession were Mr. Tom Uhrek and Miss Bettie Jarma, Mr. Frank Hanus and Miss Kustina Arsteny, Mr. Ley Kopecky and Miss Josifin Kalinee, Mr. Frank Severa and Miss July Holik, Mr. Rydolf Severa and Miss Ladu Apestery.

The bride and groom are members of well known and successful Bohemian families residing at Smetana, and their many friends will extend to them congratulations and best wishes on the event which has just been celebrated.

An exceptionally pretty line of children's shoes was opened up at Coulter's yesterday. Indeed, one beautiful little patent leather shoe with white foxing would have caused Cinderella to discard the glass slipper and put her dainty feet into a pair of these had she been given the opportunity to do so. This line is for children and misses. A line of school shoes, strong, durable and neat, is also a new addition to the line showing a child's patent leather for girls at $1.50 to $2.00 and for little gents, patent leather, six sizes 2 to 5, at $3.50. The size of this line is indicated by the size of the shoes. The sizes run from infants' 0 to men's 14. Every shoe in house is guaranteed solid leather, and Mr. Coulter says that for cash he can sell for less than any store in town.

Death of Mrs. Hudson
Mrs. Mary E. Hudson, a long-time resident of this city died at the residence of her son, Mr. Will Hudson, yesterday afternoon at 6:27 o'clock. Two children survive the deceased, a son, with whom she resided at the time of her death, and a daughter, Miss Nannie Hudson.

Interment will occur at Booneville this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Bryan Votes at Grocery Store.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—Election day at Fairview was ushered in with clear skies and balmy weather. Mr. Bryan was astir early, looking over the mass of telegrams received from different parts of the country, giving assurances of a Democratic victory. At 9 o'clock he drove in a dogcart to Henlin's grocery store, in the village of Normal, where he cast his vote. Mr. Bryan deposited ballot No. 43 in the box and as he did so a score of voters in the store removed their hats and offered him their best wishes.

Four of a Kind.
Utica, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Hon. James Sherman, accompanied by his three sons, went to the election booth in the Third district of the Seventh ward about 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The boys voted about the same time as their father, and Mr. Sherman suggested that at least four straight Republican votes had been cast.

HOME COMING OF BRYAN

Never Before Does Lincoln So Honor Noted Citizen.

STRICTLY NON-PARTISAN.

"I Will Swear In Your Presence That No One Who Votes For Me Will Ever Have Occasion to Be Ashamed of the Vote He Casts."

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—The greatest demonstration in the history of Lincoln was given to Mr. Bryan by his fellow townsmen Monday night on his return to his home city at the close of his campaign. Non-partisan in character, it was participated in by Democrats and Republicans alike, and the Democratic candidate was driven through the streets cheered by almost the entire population of the city. His reception was tendered as a citizen of Lincoln rather than as a candidate and in his speech he avoided all references to partisan issues. In the parade which followed his automobile from the union station, however, many political transparencies were carried.

Mr. Bryan reached his home city at 8:30 in his special train, coming direct from Kansas, where he had spent the day in a final whirl of speech making. His train was met at the union station by a tremendous crowd, and as the score of carriages and automobiles forming his immediate escort started across the viaduct from the railroad station, the great parade fell in line behind him. The parade moved through the Main street of the city through solid masses of cheering humanity and after circling through the city returned to the hotel Lincoln where Mr. Bryan spoke, overlooking the public square. A great shout rose from the multitude, filling the square as he appeared. He was introduced by Frederick C. Sheppard, president of the Bryan club, and spoke for half an hour.

Mr. Bryan's speech was greeted with vociferous cheers. The speaker was moved to tears as he made an affectionate reference to his wife, and when he closed the demonstration accorded him was such as he rarely had experienced in his three campaigns.

"I believe I am going to elected," he said. "More than that I believe it is going to be more than a bare victory. I believe that there is a stirring of the conscience of the American people, a moral awakening, an uprising that means a sweeping victory, and I will swear in your presence that no one who votes for me will ever have occasion to be ashamed of the vote he casts."

Mr. Bryan also said: "If the fate decides that I shall be added to the list of presidents and Nebraskans to the list of states that have furnished a president I shall rejoice with you. If, on the other hand, the election shall be against me I can feel that I have left nothing undone that I could have done to bring success to my cause. And my friends, I shall find private life so full of joy that I shall not miss the presidency."

"I have been the child of fortune from my birth. God gave me into the keeping of a Christian father and a Christian mother. They implanted in my heart the ideals that have guided my life. When I was in law school, I was fortunate, as I was in my college days, to fall under the influence of men of ideals who helped to shape my life, and when but a young man, not out of college yet, I was guided to the selection of one who for twenty-four years has been my faithful helpmate. No presidential victory could have brought her to me and no defeat can take her from me. I have been blessed with a family. My children are with me to make me glad of the declining years of their mother and myself. When you first knew me they called me in derision 'The boy orator of the Platte.' I have outlived that title and my grandchildren are now growing up about me. I repeat that I have been fortunate indeed. I have been abundantly rewarded for what little I have been able to do and my ambition is not so much to hold any office, however great as it is to know my duty and to do it, whether in public life or as a private citizen."

"If I am elected, I shall be absent from you but four years. If I am defeated you will help me to hear my defeat. And I will say to you, my friends, that the affection that my countrymen have shown, is to me dearer than all earthly offices. And my highest ambition is to deserve the continuation of that affection. I have been touched by the demonstrations that have been given in other parts of the country, but I will say to you my friends that in twelve years and in three campaigns, I have never had a welcome anywhere more generous, more enthusiastic than you have given me in Lincoln tonight."

"I believe I am going to be elected. (Great applause and cries of 'So do we.') More than that, I believe that it is going to be more than a bare victory. I believe that there is a stirring of the conscience of American people, a moral awakening, an uprising that means a sweeping victory, but my friends, that victory would be robbed of much of its sweetness if it were won outside of the state of Nebraska entirely; that victory would be robbed of much of its sweetness if Lincoln did not contribute to it; it would be robbed of much of its sweetness if my little precinct did not contribute to it. My friends I shall be among you. I will make the stay more pleasant if I can feel that this city has at last relieved of the sneers and criticisms that are cast at me when I travel away."

Spectacular Fire.
Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—A spectacular fire destroyed the lumber yards of R. A. & J. I. Williams on the northwestern section of the city, entailing a loss estimated at $750,000. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

INQUIRING AUDIENCE.

Judge Taft Asked About the Full Dinner Pail.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 3.—When Mr. Taft stepped on the Park theater stage Monday night he faced an audience almost wholly friendly, but of an inquiring turn of mind. Several persons called to him before he began his speech:

"What about the full dinner pail?" "I am going to talk to you, too," said Mr. Taft, "about the reasons labor men should support the ticket and my talk will cover the question of the full dinner pail."

Mr. Taft then made his tariff argument, showing from his standpoint that protection of American manufacturers protected also the men who worked for the manufacturers against the pauper labor of Europe. When he had finished that part of the speech questions from the audience, still insisted that the "full dinner pail," question had not been answered and Mr. Taft said, "All right. I will answer you."

He then spoke of the recent panic and said that if labor men wished to fill the dinner pail that he had been depleted by the recent depression they would have to choose between himself, as representing the party that had legislated for both labor and capital, and Mr. Bryan, who had only theorized on both subjects. From this argument Mr. Taft went to his own labor record and his aggressiveness and independence won the applause of the crowd. He made practically the same speech later at the Grand Opera House.

When Mr. Taft ended his address he made speeches in forty-one days the first speech of the tour having been made at George Ade's farm in Indiana, Sept. 23.

NEW DESIGNATION.

Methodists Termed "Church of the Holy Petroleum."

New York, Nov. 3.—The Methodist church has laid itself open to being called "The Church of Holy Petroleum."

Thus Frank S. Monnett who was appointed a special attorney by President Roosevelt for the prosecution of the Standard Oil company began an address to the Methodist preachers at their Monday meeting.

Mr. Monnett is a trustee of the Methodist Wesleyan university in Ohio and is in this city on business with that institution.

He continued: "The Kansas Methodist, the Ohio Congregational Methodists and the Pennsylvania Dutch Reformed were robbed of their oil, coal and iron lands, making men, women and children and millions pay 100 to 300 per cent more for cook stoves, hardware, coal and kerosene than open normal competition would effect."

"As a Methodist son and grandson of Methodists, I want to protest against the receiving of stolen goods under the plea of sanctity and the exonerated of international kleptomania."

Hurried Away to Vote.

New York, Nov. 3.—With election hand, with fair weather and a heavy vote indicated throughout the United States the rival managers of the Republican and Democratic campaigns closed their desks at headquarters declaring respectively Taft and Bryan would win and then hurried away on late trains to cast their ballots. Mr. Hitchcock at Weston, Mass., Mr. Mack at Buffalo.

Both chairmen said that after their votes had been deposited they would have done all that they could do to further the interests of their parties and of their leading candidates in the momentous campaign of 1908.

The tasks of the national chairmen have been many and tedious. They have involved long railroad journeys and many midnight vigils. The varied turns and perplexities of the long campaign have been trying and it was with sighs of great relief that both Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Mack announced that their work was done.

Lady's Predicament.

Verona, N. J., Nov. 2.—After having built with her own hands the walls of a four story concrete house Mrs. Charles Rice of Verona has come to a part of the work which she admits puzzles her. She does not see how she is going to put in the rooms. She says that she knows how the beams should be joined and she knows what the proper pitch should be, but she does not know how she is going to put the beams in place. They are too heavy for her to lift and she has to tackle with which to raise them. She says she is practically at the end of her means and is unable to hire men to help her and is very much afraid it will be a long time before the house is finished. Mrs. Rice is a frail, delicate woman. Her husband is a cripple.

Unknown White Man Killed.

Memphis, Nov. 3.—An unknown white man aged about forty years was shot and instantly killed here by Robert Johnson, a negro watchman. Johnson, who was employed as a watchman at a mill, claims he acted in self defense, as the man attempted to shoot him after he had been ejected from the building for trespassing.

Observed Monday.

New Orleans, Nov. 3.—All Saints' day falling on Sunday, Monday was observed as a legal holiday in Louisiana.

Britt Defeats Summers.

London, Nov. 3.—Jimmy Britt of California defeated in the tenth round Johnny Summers of England.

Miners Fall Many Feet.

Jerome, Pa., Nov. 3.—Two miners fell 275 feet down a shaft. Both bodies were horribly mangled.
